

Functions of management can be classified into two catogories, they are A. Main functions and B. Subsidiary functions. All functions of management are briefly discussed below:

2.01 Main Functions

Planning, Organising, Staffing, Directing, Motivating, Controlling and Co-ordination are the main functions of management.

1. Planning

Think Before you Act‘ or 'Look Before you Leap' are some of the usual traditional proverbs; which provide a basis or logic for planning. Planning is the primary function of management. Nothing can be performed without planning. (For eg., Writing a book starts with planning). In short, planning refers to deciding in advance. Planning is a constructive reviewing of future needs so that present actions can be adjusted in view of the established goal. Planning should take place before doing; most individual or group efforts are made by determining before any operative action takes place, what shall be done, where, how and who shall do it.

2. Organising

Organising is the process of establishing harmonious relationship among the members of an organisation and the creation of network of relationship among them. Organising function work is assigned to employees who are given authority to carry out the work assigned and made accountable for it.

3. Staffing

Staffing function comprises the activities of selection and placement of competent personnel. In other words, staffing refers to placement of right persons in the right jobs. Staffing includes selection of right persons, training to those needy persons, promotion of best persons, retirement of old persons, performance appraisal of all the personnel, and adequate remuneration of personnel. The success of any enterprise depends upon the successful performance of staffing function.

4. Directing

Directing denotes motivating, leading, guiding and communicating with
